

Manchester Industrial Relations Society Meetings

2018-2019

October 11: Prof Gregor Gall, Visiting Professor of Industrial Relations at Leeds University Business School: 'The impact of the Trade Union Act 2016 on strikes and industrial action: Doing what it says on the tin?'

November 15: (joint meeting with the CIPD) Prof Catherine Bailey, Professor of Work and Employment, Kings College London '5 Interesting Facts about Meaningful Work'

December 6: Anthony Curley, Unite North West: 'Organising Young Workers: the 2018 TGI Fridays strikes'

February 21: Sharon Graham, national organiser, Unite (with Prof Debra Howcroft, University of Manchester as a discussant) 'Automation: the workers piece of the pie?'

March 14: (joint meeting with the Industrial Law Society) Prof Catherine Barnard, Professor of European Union Law, University of Cambridge "Brexit: What does it mean for labour law?'

May 9: (Shirley Lerner Lecture) Prof Damian Grimshaw, Director of the Research Department, International Labour Organisation: 'The International Labour Organisation and the struggle for decent work: a global perspective in the ILO's centenary year.'